The Reuse of Research Data

Call for Action:
Protect Research Data Against Non-Human Persuasion

Cambridge Data Week 2020
Office for Scholarly Communication
Cambridge University, Nov.24th 2020

Tiberius Ignat
Scientific Knowledge Services
Research data management challenges in citizen science projects

Recommendations for library support services

Jitka Stilund Hansen (Technical University of Denmark) et alia
Research Data Repurposed by Machines

Data Reuse Rights for Machines
Persuasive_Algorithms $\in$ Platform_Economies
The Internet of Metis

a world of Humans, Bots and Things
Machines: not allowed to persuade humans!

Research data: away from persuasive machines!
Share data responsibly!

data reuse under licence
research_data !persuaders
PRIVACY-BY-DESIGN, NO TRACKING WEBSITE

Citizen Scientists Investigating Cookies and App GDPR compliance.

(CSI-COP)

https://csi-cop.eu/
Share data responsibly!
Example:

How to Reuse Research Data in AI-Assisted Clinical Decision Tools
Example:

How to Reuse Research Data in Scholarly Communication
Act now!
Share data responsibly!
Anticipate! Prevent!
The Re-Use of Data by Persuasive Robots

This form is run independently by Tiberius Ignat, after a presentation at Cambridge Data Week 2020 and it's not an initiative of Cambridge University or its Office of Scholarly Communication.

Your participation is not mandatory.

* Required

Humans persuaded by robots and algorithms. Is this a good idea? *

- Yes
- No

Would you like to contribute to a movement which aims to stop the practice of using non-human to persuade humans? This movement could start with regulations toward the re-use of research data *

- Yes
- No

(Optional) Please register your email address if you would like to stay in contact

Your answer

Submit